

Jhony Keys

Jhonson Francois, aka “Jhony Keys,” is one of the most sought-after Multi-keyboardists, producers, and instructors in the New England area. Starting at 9 in Carrefour, Port-au-Prince, Jhony studied classical music and performed in church before moving to the US, where he now resides with his family. His diversity has allowed him to play many genres, such as Gospel, Jazz, Kompa, Kizomba, Salsa, Funk, R&B, and Pop. His gift has privileged him to share various national and international stages with artists such as Billy Osborne, Etienne Charles, Benny

Wallace, Jeff Coffin, Grace Evora, Balla Kouyate, Djodie, Elan Trotman, Jeff Bradshaw, Eric Darius, Mike Phillips, Ray Greene, Livingston Taylor, and others, to name a few! He’s currently serving as Professor at the prestigious Berklee College of Music, instructing the current and the next generation of musicians... leaving a legacy
